Activity description

The company operates in two segments, Integrated Television Operations and EI Towers. The first segment engages in content production and third-party acquisition; linear and non-linear, free-to-air and pay-per-view content distribution activities with a range of content centered on soccer, cinema, TV series, documentaries, and children's TV channels. This segment is also involved in radio broadcasting operations; movie production and distribution; teleshopping, web publishing activities, licensing, merchandising, and foreign advertising concessions.

The EI Towers segment operates electronic communications networks for radio and television broadcasters, mobile telecommunications providers, as well as network infrastructure management services. This segment offers hosting on its transmission towers or stations, as well as a range of related services, such as technical assistance, maintenance, logistics, and planning services.
